

Government need to help INNOCENT child abuse victims once and for all.

No government has ever come down on the side of the child abuse victim. No child can be blamed for being 'raped', for being 'traumatised', for being 'terrified' into silence can they. When a poor victim does find the courage to come forward what do they find?

They find the evil sexual deviant is given a ridiculously lenient sentence or, worse still, not even given a sentence. Government knows there is NO CURE for paedophiles and letting even one of them back out into the community to get at even more kids is absolutely BARBARIC, there is no other word for it.

Do children in GB mean so little to our government? YES, IT WOULD APPEAR SO! Civilised? No, nobody can call what is happening out there CIVILISED can they.